

I enjoy listening to stations with national and regional services and am opposed to the expansion of LPFM services or allowance for them to usurp them in priority.

I frequently listen to K-LOVE in Greensboro, NC and appreciate both being able to turn it on in the car at a moment's notice and to be assured that when traveling, I can reach a K-LOVE station in almost any other part of the country.

K-LOVE is the only local station we have for hearing modern Christian music. If it were displaced by an LPFM broadcaster providing different programming, we would no longer have a radio station available on which we could hear modern Christian music 24 hours a day. K-LOVE's programming is serving a large number of people in the area, as many people prefer its music programming to other music available on other stations. Its music encourages people (their motto is to be encouraging and they do it); attractive (both Christians and non-Christians listen to it); and upbeat, friendly, and happy. It is the bright spot in the day for many people who are going through various hardships in their lives. I continually hear of moms who are so happy that they have a station (K-LOVE) that they can listen to and encourage their kids to listen to because they know that it will not take their kids down the wrong path. [K-LOVE never uses bad or questionable language or topics of conversation such as the FCC has had to clamp down on with higher fines (Howard Stern, last year's Super Bowl fiasco with Janet Jackson, etc.). So moms feel that they can listen to it openly in the car with their kids without fear and can get their kids into the habit of listening to it and encourage them to listen to it without fear of them hearing something unseemly, vulgar, sexual, drug/alcohol-related, etc.]

K-LOVE is truly a help in supporting and maintaining and even elevating community standards. Their kind of programming should be encouraged and supported, not limited and displaced. Therefore, I am against the proposed LPFM expansion with priority given over FM translator services such as K-LOVE. Please do not displace this valuable station or open up or expand LPFM in such a way as to threaten now or to set up to threaten the FM translator services such as K-LOVE.

Sincerely,

Dr. and Mrs. Howard N. Greene
